I am not going to tell you that there is no work involved, because there is honestly a good amount of your spare time that a person will need to put toward to making an income online with free marketing. That is why it is free, that is why most people dont do it, that is why it is an open ballfield.br /

If you are willing to commit eight to ten hours a week in your spare time, you can honestly make a good income online with free types of advertising and marketing. (give up 1 football game and a couple of shows a week and that should cover it),sorry to be so blunt, but thats what seperates the dotcom. millionares from the rest of us. They are willing to go the extra mile, and most of us are not willing to give up our precious spare time to commit to making a living from home. Most people who attempt it, nearly always give up and fall by the wayside.br /

The main issue that most people have with free advertising is that it does take some time, but the tremendous upside is that you can make a substantial income online,and it doesnt have to cost you a dime , if it is approached properly. br /

There are many types of free advertising out there to help build your internet business. There are the classified ads that can be placed in Craigslist, and Backpage to name a couple. It only requires some elbow grease and a tight ad placement system to get it up and running. Placing ads in free online newspapers is quite effective and can bring in a nice income online if a person adheres to the rules and principles that are in place. To do free classified ads , a person must be diligent and be able to roll with the flow of the everchanging regulations that the classified industry comes up with, but for the ones who persevere, it can be a very profitable way to make an income online.br /

Another avenue of free marketing is, well, you are looking at it. Thats right , article marketing. It doesnt cost a person anything to write an article and post it to article hubs, just a little time and imagination. When a person posts to an article hub, it creates a link to their landing page , and if a person posts enough articles to enough hubs, it then begins to push your ranking up in the google search engine, and that basically translates into driving free traffic to your website. In case your new to this type of marketing, driving traffic is the beginning to making an income online.br /

There is another free way to drive people to your website and Ill bet youve heard of it, you-tube. It is free to set up an account and it is free to post your video. You dont need any high tech equipment, most digital cameras will allow you to make a three to five minute video. Just get over your fear of being in front of a camera, and making an income online with youtube is a reality, not to mention , its actually kind of fun.br /

Blogs cost absolutely nothing. Anyone , and I do mean anyone can do blogs. A person can do several blogs on several different topics, but tie them together and point them to your website and you then have free traffic once again. When a person writes an aticle for an article hub, they can turn around and post that same article on their blog. That person has now crosslinked the two and, once again, helps to push up their google rankings. Content is king on the internet when it comes to making an income online, and free marketing is a way for anyone to make a their presence felt on the internet. br /
