Learnig About Free Advertising

Dear readers I am writing to to share with you a amazing marketing tactic that does not cost a dime and you can get tons of targeted traffic to your website or your blog. The idea behind my research is to provide as much free information to the world wide web as I can because I am sick and tired of all the gurus charging people for there help. I want to help people get started and grow there business to the best of my ability as my way of giving back to the public. For one without the public I would have never made it anywhere with my business so in appretiation of your support I vowed to give as much free info as I can. The topic today is advertising and I tell you I have found hundreds of free advertising methods that have amazing results for links to all my free ad sites go to Marketing and readd through my website it provides some good contacts. Ok FREE advertising. You can pay tons of money to Google ad words or you can do your home work which I have already done for you. There are some many different tactics to use such as Facebook,Myspace,Twitter and other sites like that my personal favorites are Yuwie and Zenzuu because they pay you to use there site to promote your business and that is just awsome in my opinion. The good thing about these site Like with yuwie you can intergrate your yuwie with your twitter so that every time you update anything on your yuwie it posts a update on your twitter for all your followers to see whci is a great form of advertising. Youtube is another good idea for advertising and actually as I write this today I will use this article to make a video for youtube about getting free traffic you can find my youtube channel to check it out at affiliate youtube is great because it is a entire community of people that will watch your videos and if you provide solid content that is interesting then they will participate in whet you have to offer.

Now the thing is no matter how much advertising you do no matter how well you market your business if you do not have quality content then you will get no sales period. Good quality content and a well marketed website equal high sales conversions which is the real goal in all of this. A couple of other ways to get FREE advertising is utilizing search engines, surf for traffic with traffic exchanges. I also recommend if you are trying to market a blog that you start out with small communication channels. Leave comments on other blogs that are related to your content, give feedback on the content, do this every day for about a week or two try to leave about ten comments per night every night and soon the authors of those blogs will start to read your content and post links in there blogs to your blog or blog about your blog in their blog wich will in turn send some of their readers to you and you will start to build a small audience. FREE advertising is the best way to get traffic in todays economy because it cost's so little I mean FREE is the best price right. so THat pretty much concludes my article today about free advertising if you would like to get a idea about how to make youtube videos for your business go to my website with the links above and check out my channel. GOOD LUCK
